Peter Ma is an Associate in Selman Breitman's San Francisco office and is a member of the firm's Insurance and Commercial Litigation practice groups. He represents insurers in coverage disputes, including cases arising out of first-party and third-party claims.

Peter has represented carriers in disputes with their insureds in the areas of commercial general liability, homeowners and commercial automobile. He has experience handling declaratory relief, breach of contract and bad faith actions. He provides advice to clients regarding their coverage obligations and prepares coverage opinions. Peter works with large and mid-size companies throughout the United States, working closely with clients to achieve solutions to their legal needs. His experience enables him to evaluate complex coverage issues and defend claims.
